AUSTRALIAN CRIMINAL INTELLIGENCE COMMISSION

s 47F(1) [redacted]

Due to privacy reasons we cannot comment on specific cases reported through ACORN.

Once a report has been submitted, the ACORN system automatically refers suitable reports to law enforcement agencies for consideration and possible investigation. The suitability is based on a number of factors, including the type of incident, where the suspect is located, and whether the report contains sufficient information about the incident.

Where an Australian law enforcement agency is taking action, they will contact the individual who has lodged the report. Individuals are informed of this at the start and end of the reporting process, and they are provided with appropriate advice and resources.

The ACORN website provides information and case studies on identity theft and online scams and fraud. ACORN statistics reports are also published quarterly, providing a breakdown of the total number of reports received through the ACORN, website visits and high-level victim statistics. The latest statistics, from 1 July–30 September 2016, are available on the ACORN website.

8 AD HOC SERVICE REQUESTS

8.1 REPORT REFERRAL

The ACORN system allows for all reports in a report sub-set to be referred to a nominated Agency. This authority rests with the ACORN Administrative User at the Australian Crime Commission.

All requests for the referral of all reports in a report sub-set must be in writing and submitted in the first instance to the CrimTrac Service Desk at servicedesk@crimtrac.gov.au. Where the request may impact other Agencies, this should be agreed with those Agencies prior to submission of the request.

The ACC Administrative User will action the request and will advise the requestor when it has been completed.

The Referral Process

Business rules look at the cybercrime type, victim jurisdiction, victim type, suspect jurisdiction and loss incurred to determine the Referral Agency.

For detail of the referral rules, please see the Current Referral Rules section at the rear of this document.

An agency may also opt to be tagged for information, where they are interested in specific reports but may not be the Referral agency.

An agency may manually re-refer an ACORN Report to a different agency, following liaison with the agency to determine that the new agency is better placed to action the reported incident.

Current Referral Rules

The referral rules below have been developed from the protocol for law enforcement agencies on cybercrime investigations, the ACORN reporting and referral arrangements plan and subsequent ACORN UAG project workshops.

Reportable in ACORN reflects the ability for the complainant to proceed through all the ACORN questions to collect victim, suspect, method and loss details. An activity not reportable in ACORN stops the complainant and presents them with a final screen to indicate that ACORN cannot take their report.

Overarching Rules – Each of the 5 rules has a configurable line item for each police agency

Rule 1: If suspect location is in AUS, and Victim location is in AUS, Referral Agency = Suspect Jurisdiction, For Information Agency = Victim Agency
Rule 2: If suspect location is in AUS AND Victim is Anonymous, Referral Agency = Suspect Jurisdiction
Rule 3: If suspect location is in AUS AND Victim location is international, Referral Agency = Suspect Jurisdiction
Rule 4: If suspect location is international AND Victim location is in AUS, Referral Agency = Victim Jurisdiction
Rule 5: If suspect unknown AND victim location is in AUS, Referral Agency = Victim jurisdiction

How to use this document

This document covers each of the referral rules as they exist, for the purposes of the referral rule importer to read and write into ACORN.
Referral rules act in a positive ordered manner i.e. if no referral rule is met, the report will not get Referred.
Each rule maps out each unique scenario and the resultant referral and tag for information.
Variable (e.g Y) represents any state\territory, do not tag for information if Y is also referral agency.
Cybercrime type's must match identical to the cybercrime types defined in the master specification, including case.
Condition Notes is not read by the import tool - it is used for reference to the question option.
See rule notes tab, for information on each cybercrime type. Types in red are not reportable cybercrime incidents, and as such not Referred.
Referral Notification configuration can be found on the Notification Tab

Rules

How the Victim or Suspect is determined are spec'd in FUNC502 and FUNC503.
A loss threshold, if it exists must take into consideration a 0 total loss. I.e. A loss threshold of < $50 would be equivilent to >= $0 and < $50.
Referral Rule question options or questions are numbered with the option number from the questions spreadsheet. Referral rules must be triggered off a radio button selection.

s 37(2)(b)

s 37(2)(b)

Cybercrime Type - Attack on Computer System

Description: Referral of AoCS is dependent on the type of attack which has occurred. Some instances of Attack on Computer System reports are redirections from other offence questions where someone has actioned or fallen victim to the scam\fraud attempt.

Response Examples: (Production of Malware)Malware creation, ongoing compromises.
(Unauthorised access\intrusion) to computer system or online account. Hacktivism.
(Unauthorised Impairment)Denial of Service Attacks, Botnet.
(Virus)
(Extortion\Blackmail) Ransomware

Notes: Initial attack on computer system question defines subtypes, with the last question of the flow setting the cybercrime type.
Virus only referrable when Suspect known in Australia.
Blackmail\Extortion added in baseline questions.

Cybercrime Type - Cyber Bullying or Stalking

Description: Cyber Bullying or Stalking reports are Referred on an agency to agency basis. The initial rules depended on a threat to injure or kill, however this rule has been relaxed. Rules now work off both the Yes/No of threat to injure or kill.

Response Examples: Bullying via social networking websites, mobile or email. Sexting
Immitation of others online.
Menacing or harassing behaviour online.

Notes: Referral rules have recently changed following the UAG workshop. It will now be up to each agency to indicate if they do not want bullying/stalking Referred to their agency.

Cybercrime Type - Other

Description: Other is a catch all option where a complainant cannot report something based on other questions which lead them along a question path to a specific cybercrime type.
Other reports should be used as a review mechanism by the ACORN UAG to determine the suitability and adjustment of questions according to the reponses coming through as this cybercrime type.
By default, standard referral rules will apply to any free text response.
Other

Response Examples:

Notes: Final offence module question will gather free text information, and flow the complainant through each question module. Referral based off initial 'Identify the cybercrime type' question.

Cybercrime Type - Offending Against Children

Description: Current Referral rules do not refer any offending against children and child abuse material responses. Where a complainant is reporting an offence against children, the complainant is adviced to contact Crime Stoppers or triple zero. Where the complainant is reporting that they have seen child sexual abuse or other illegal or prohibited material online they will be Response Examples: Grooming and befriending a child online for contact.

Under 16 and an adult has had inappropriate sexual discussion online.
Suspect internet being used to view download or distribute child sexual exploitation material.
Seen child sexual abuse material online (ACMA)

Cybercrime Type - SPAM or Phishing

Description: Current Referral rules do not refer any SPAM and Phishing responses. Where a Complainant does not respond to the SPAM email advice will be given. Those that do respond to the SPAM or phishing attempt will be pointed to a different cybercrime type.

Response Examples: Bank emails, emails asking for money - redirects to Scams or Fraud.
Emails containing a virus - redirects to Attack on Computer System.
Email containing offensive content or child abuse material - redirects to OAC & OOC.

Notes: Any SPAM or Phishing report will eventuate as statistics only - no identifying information.

Cybercrime Type - Illegal or Prohibited Material

Description: Current Referral rules do not refer any Illegal or Prohibited internet material. Advice will be given to report to ACMA or the national security hotline.

Response Examples: Material containing excessive violence, instruction of crime, material that advocates terrorism.
Child exploitation material or child sexual abuse material found on the internet.

Notes: Any Illegal or Prohibited Internet Material report will eventuate as statistics only - no identifying information.
